About the author:

Anne Hamilton is the author of YA fantasy Many-Coloured Realm and has been a teacher for over 30 years.

About the illustrator:

Sandra Temple is an award winning artist with a passion for wildlife conservation. She illustrated the highly successful children's book Puggle's Problem. Inspired by the incredible true life story of the sandpipers, she sees this book as an opportunity to educate children and adults alike about the plight of the Tereks as their feeding grounds are reduced each year.

Blurb:

Halfway around the world and back again...!

Each year, hundreds of thousands of baby waders make a mammoth journey from breeding grounds inside the Arctic Circle to the beaches of Australia. Each year more are lost as their feeding grounds make way for factories.

This is the story of one of them: Terry, the tiny terek.
